Youth Leaders on the Spot? Group Publishing Offers No Prep Devotions and Games

Group Publishing's On the Spot series helps youth workers always be prepared

Denver, CO – Youth leaders and volunteers sometimes find themselves “on the spot.” The program is finished early and you have run out of ideas. The plans fell through and there is no backup plan. The church van broke down. What do leaders and volunteers do in those situations? Being on the spot is never fun...until now.

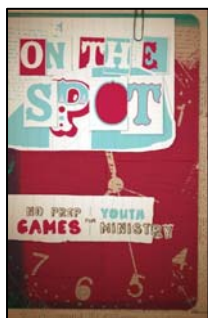

Group Publishing and Editor Steve Parolini offer On the Spot: No-Prep Devotions for Youth Ministry and On the Spot: No-Prep Games for Youth Ministry for these exact situations, providing youth leaders and volunteers with plans—when there’s been not much time for planning.

The devotions booklet has twenty devotions for teens, all less than fifteen minutes long, on relevant topics for youth ministry today, including drugs and alcohol, cheating, conformity, Heaven, the future and how our media choices affect our lives. The idea is to take times where teens may become distracted or out of control, and turn it into an opportunity for them to have a meaningful interaction with God. Devotion topics include:

- Hunger for God
- The Future
- Prayer
- Getting to Know God
- Speaking the Truth
- Resurrection
- Faith and Science
- Fasting
- And more...

The games booklet has twenty nine instant games that can be played just about anywhere—with no supplies required and perfect for any occasion. The games include modifications of classics, like “Human Tic-Tac-Toe,” to the pantomime influenced “Hall of Fame.” The games include both sexes and don’t require athletic skills, ensuring the whole youth group can play. Games include:

- I Never...
- My Favorite Things
- A Spy for a Spy
- Wacky Questions
- Top Ten Lists
- Who Am I?
- Laws and Guffaws
- The Master Potter
- Hello-Goodbye
- And more...

“On the Spot is all about fun, not fear. It’s about possibility, not panic. They’re easy to lead and use. The devotions offer meaningful faith explorations,” says editor Steve Parolini. On the Spot will turn a down time into an up one.
